

EERC RAW GRANT 2009

Need $100 for your classroom or other literacy project? For the first time ever, EERC is offering three $100 Reading And Writing grants. Just tell us how you plan to use the money and we will pick the three projects we feel will best promote reading and/or writing. In other words, you provide the RAW ingredients and we will add the dough.

You need to be a current member (or join) to apply. Don't delay. The deadline is October 31st, 2009.

Here's what you do:

Write no more than a page (12pt font) and include the following:

- List your name and contact information (email, mailing address, phone number)
- Describe the project and give it a title.
- Explain how you will spend the money.
- Explain who will benefit; what the positive literacy outcomes are.
- List the grade level or levels of the participants.
- If you receive a grant, write a short description and evaluation of your project for the May/June Literacy Line. Must be sent in by April 30th.
- Email or mail the above to:
Barbara McKillip,
PO Box 10246,
Eugene, OR 97440
or libri@librifoundation.org

It must be received by October 31, 2009 to qualify.
Send it in today and you may be a lucky winner!
